Raleigh Immigration Law Firm Expands Online Presence with Fresh New Website www.bashyamspiro.com was redesigned with the website user in mind

RALEIGH — April 28, 2011 — Immigration Law Firm, Bashyam Spiro LLP, recently launched a fully redesigned website (<http://www.bashyamspiro.com/>) to support the needs of their growing customer base. The resource-driven site incorporates a redesign of the site navigation and architecture to enhance user experience and allow easy access to current information on immigration policy and issues.

“When dealing with immigration issues, there are so many things to consider. Immigration laws change often and outcomes can be uncertain. Our goal is to be a true support system to our clients, prospective clients, attorneys and legal professionals who are seeking resources on Immigration and Naturalization Law. It is important for those navigating immigration issues to have access to current information and resources,” said Murali Bashyam, managing partner, Bashyam Spiro. “Our new site a support how today’s consumers search for information online and allows users to gain important information fast.”

Prominently placed links provide quick-response forms for some of the most common questions prospective clients have for immigration attorneys. Those looking for legal representation can complete these forms to schedule a consultation with one of the firm's immigration attorneys. The site includes updated information on the firm's attorneys and areas of expertise and allows users to easily share information with others.

The new website also features dedicated sections for events and the firms' immigration news feed, media library, blog, and pressroom which will be continuously updated with informative articles on immigration issues, trends, and legislative changes that affect immigration law as well as answers to common questions. Prominent icons also appear on each page enabling content sharing and directing website visitors to Bashyam Spiro's Facebook, LinkedIn, Twitter, and YouTube pages. The firm’s social media platforms are focused on education and enhancing clients’ ability to make informed decisions.

About Bashyam Spiro LLP: The law firm is committed solely to the practice of Immigration and Nationality Law. All Bashyam Spiro attorneys are members of AILA.
